CLASS HISTORY

As we, the Seniors, look back upon all our school years here at M.H.S., we find that the enrollment of our class has changed many times. On our very first day of school, Miss Flory counted 23. She tried to teach us how to behave in school. Well, you see the results.

Miss McNary, our second grade teacher, counted us the next year. She found we had decreased to only 18.

The next year, our third, Miss Jacobs counted us and found we had again decreased in number to 17.

In the fourth grade we again had Miss Jacobs, who, we are glad to say, was promoted too. She counted us once more and recorded a grand total of 16.

In our fifth grade we again decreased in number to 15. Mrs. Garner was our very able teacher.

Mrs. Garner was again our teacher for our sixth year. She prepared us for Junior High.

At last we reached Junior High, rather shyly but surely. Mrs. Johnson was our home room teacher both years. There was an increase here to 19 members.

When we entered high school, we were excited, giddy freshmen. We increased here to 22.

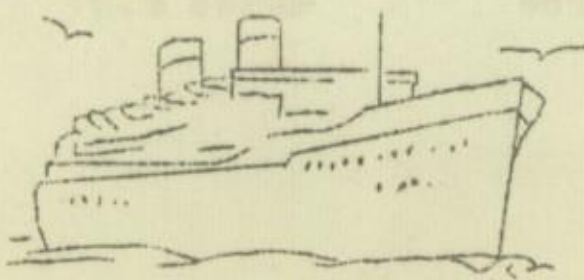

Mrs. Wallace was our sophomore home room teacher. We decreased here to 21.

In our junior year, Mrs. Kinzey was our home room teacher. There were 22 of us again.

This year there are only 17 of us left. Mr. Stevens is our sponsor, and Mr. Chapin is our home room teacher.

Those who started together and have been and still are together are: Francis Adams, Rebecca Heminger, Madge Hedge, Lillian Sherman, Flo Carpenter, and Russell Burton.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

Listen, my friends, and we shall pass
Our last will and testament to the Junior Class.
Being of able body and sound mind(?),
We shall publish and declare the following at this time.

- First: Jointly, we, the dignified Seniors, will our scholastic ability to the Juniors, providing they don't over-use it.
- Second: I, Dale Tyson Jr., will my large vocabulary to Rex Parsons, if he promises not to fill my position in American literature.
- Third: I, Russell Burton, will all my excess music back to Mrs. Sockrider in order that she will have enough for chorus next year.
- Fourth: I, Madge Hedge, will my squeaky clarinet notes to the entire M.H.S. Band.
- Fifth: I, Emma Lou Sherman, return to Mrs. Johnson my commerical knowledge. I didn't mean to take it anyway.
- Sixth: I, Max Tyson, will my ability to tease to Danny Schmeltz.
- Seventh: I, Joyce Bickelhaupt Stoner, will my ability to catch a husband to Regina Baker.
- Eighth: I, Lewis Buckingham, will my large appetite to Noel Nonnemaker that he might fill the star position which I leave open.
- Ninth: I, Lois Elder, will my black hair to Sally Foster.
- Tenth: I, Harold Geren, will my ability to sleep in class to Dick Williamson so Dick will catch up on his sleep.
- Eleventh: I, Joanne King, will my soprano voice to Betty Tyson in order that she may sing light operas.
- Twelfth: I, Richard Foster, will my ways with the girls to Tom Stewart, on condition that he doesn't take mine.
- Thirteenth: I, Flo Carpenter, will my quiet ways to Wilma Sidle if she won't invade Fostoria.
- Fourteenth: I, Francis Adams, will my height to any Junior who wants it; I don't.
- Fifteenth: I, Lillian Sherman, will my glasses to Mr. Roebke to check the bookkeeping books, providing he wears them no more than I do.
- Sixteenth: I, Reva Long, will my naturally wavy hair to Barbara Burns, so Barbara can spend her time more wisely.
- Seventeenth: I, Mary Biller, will my interest in men to Della Florea, if she will find me one.
- Eighteenth: I, Rebecca Heminger, will my ambition to blow up the lab to Mr. Chapin.
- Nineteenth: We, the Seniors, will to Mr. Stevens the beginning class of 1951, in hopes that they will keep him as busy as we do.
- Twentieth: We, the Seniors, leave to Mr. Lauck our discarded and unpublished poetry.
- Twenty-first: We, the Seniors, leave to Mr. Rogers all literature and books referring to farming.
- Twenty-second: We, the Seniors, will to Mrs. Moore all our humble manner books that she might pass the word on to our followers.
- Lastly: We, the graduating class of Montgomery Twp. High School, Wayne, Ohio, leave all our unpaid debts to the Junior class.
- Signed, sealed, and delivered on this twenty-first day of February, 1951.

Rebecca Heminger and Emma Lou Sherman

CLASS PROPHECY

As captain of the space ship to Earth I feel that it is my duty to report what and whom we saw there. My crew and I left Mars in the Martian year 76624 in the Flying Saucer model 726-X1. We made the trip to Earth uneventfully and landed in the United States of America. We landed in the Earth year 1971 and stayed eight Earth months.

The first man we saw was Dick Foster. He was an Earthling of a very roly-poly appearance. Dick introduced us to Madge (Hedge), his wife, and their two lovely daughters. Madge treated us to a delicious dinner of duck from Dick's duck farm.

Next our wanderings took us to West Millgrove. Here we met Joyce (Bickelhaupt) Stoner. She was happily married and had an eighteen year old son.

Joyce introduced my Martian party to Harold Geren who was married to Lois Elder. She earned the living for both Harold and herself while Harold doctored that '36 Plymouth which he still called a car.

Our wondering now brought us into contact with Francis and Emma Lou Sherman Adams. They had five sons who played basketball. What a team!!!

From an airport near Toledo, we went via Earthmen's jet planes to Hollywood, California. This is the capital of the motion picture industry.

Here we met Max Tyson, a motion picture actor. Mick had finally found a place where long side burns were in vogue---western movies!!

Max took us Martians to see a friend of his, Russell Burton. Russell, it seems, had taken advantage of his silly motions and zany antics to become a comedian. He had an hour T. V. show daily.

Supplying the music on Russell's show was Joanne King. Joanne played the piano and did a copious amount of wonderful singing. She was, incidentally, happily married.

From Hollywood we went to Texas where we met Lillian Sherman and her husband. After twenty years of married life she still treated him like a God. Yes, burnt offerings three times daily.

From Texas we traveled to Seattle, Washington. There we met Reva Long. She had dedicated her life to missionary work and the converting of heathens to Christianity. Whether she carried out her work with a fervor or fever I never determined.

Next we Martians traveled to the mid-west. Here we visited a lab where atomic research was being conducted. Rebecca Heminger was chief technician, and after seeing her lab methods, we Martians all breathed more easily when we'd left her behind.

We now decided to visit a hospital. We became acquainted with Flo Carpenter. It is said that she's killed----and kissed more patients than all of her predecessors.

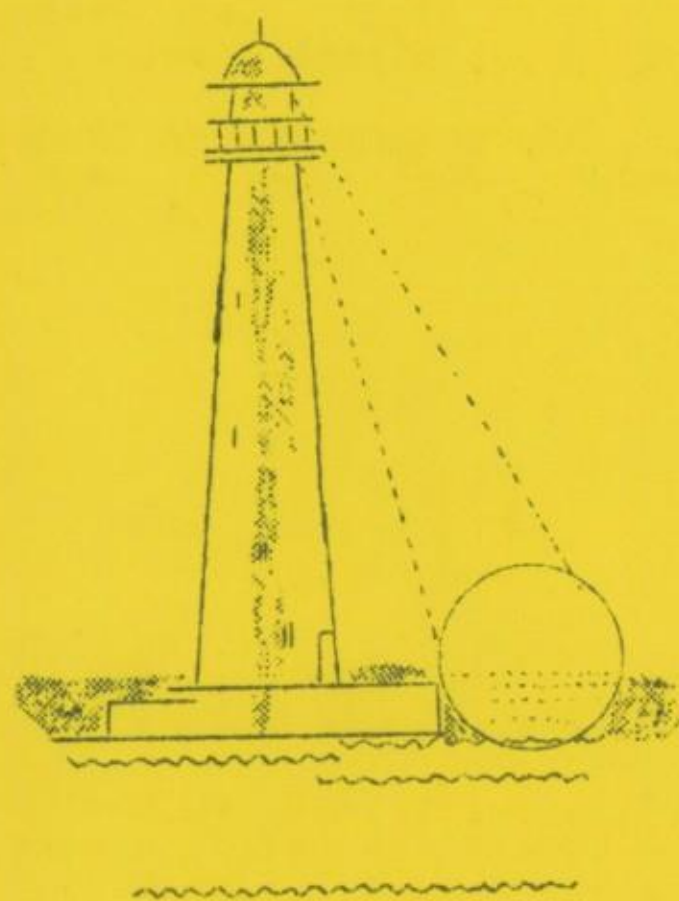

We Martians stayed in for an evening to watch the T. V. miracle. Lewis Buckingham was on giving a T. V. concert. He had taken full advantage of his "hot trumpet" and "golden notes" to become America's no. 1 trumpeter.

My Martian party now took off for Wayne. We went by air, and our stewardess was Mary Biller. She told me that she'd lost two jobs because of the way she "soothed" nervous men passengers.

The last man we saw was Doctor Dale Tyson, a physicist. His last words were: "You can't possibly be here. Interplanetary travel is impossible!"

HISTORY OF SENIOR TRIP

Twenty persons went on the Senior Class trip this year-seventeen seniors and three sponsors-Superintendent and Mrs. Robert E. Stevens, and Mr. Paul Chapin.

The class went via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad leaving Fostoria at 5:03 P. M., May 23. We arrived in Washington D. C. the following morning. The forenoon was spent visiting the interior of public buildings which included: The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, The Washington Monument, The Pan American Union, The Smithsonian Institute, and The United States Capitol.

After lunch on Capitol Hill, we went to Arlington National Cemetery passing enroute many points of interest and making a stop at the Lincoln Memorial. In Arlington we viewed the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and saw the changing of the Honor Guard. Leaving Arlington we motored to Mt. Vernon to visit the old home of George and Martha Washington. Returning to Washington we passed through Alexandria, Virginia, the old home town of Washington, the National Airport, and also viewed the Jefferson Memorial and Japanese cherry trees. In the evening we dressed for a special dinner and show at Washington's famous Lotus Garden.

The next morning we took a bus to Annapolis, Maryland, to visit the U. S. Naval Academy buildings and grounds. Touring back to Washington we visited the Franciscan Monastery and the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

After lunch at 2:00 P. M., we next visited the National History Building and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We had time out for a bit of shopping in the downtown area. After dinner we had the evening free until train time. Then we traveled to New York City and stayed for three days and two nights in a first class hotel.

While in New York City we received broadcast tickets to a national network program. We were also allowed behind the scenes of broadcasting and television for an hour. Then we went on a guided tour through Rockefeller Center and the observation roof. Later we took a ferry boat to Bedloe's Island to visit the Statue of Liberty.

The one tour which proved to be most interesting was the Circle Line Yacht Trip, which was a three hour cruise around Manhattan Island with a lecturer on board to point out the many skyscrapers, Trans-ocean liners, views of the five New York Burroughs and New Jersey, George Washington Bridge, the new United Nations Building, Grant's tomb, Governor's Island, Yankee Stadium, and hundreds of other points of interest.

Next we went on a four and one half hour sightseeing tour through upper and lower Manhattan, Wall Street, China-town, Fifth Avenue, Saint Patrick's Cathedral, and Harlem.

The matinee view of the panorama of the stars at the Hayden Planetarium was most educational.

One evening we took another sightseeing tour through China-town at night, Bohemian Greenwich Village, the Bowery with its streets of forgotten men, downtown Brooklyn, the lower East side with its pushcarts, clothes-lines and gossip. Then we had a late snack at Jack Dempsey's Restaurant.

The Great White Way at night is the most spectacular display of Electric Illumination in the world.

The wonderful chicken dinner, floor show and dancing at Billy Rose's Diamond Horse Shoe, the most famous nite club in the world, was enjoyed by all.

Shopping in the world's largest department stores was thrilling, especially to the girls!

Like all good things, our exciting trip had to come to an end, so it was back to Wayne again.

MUSIC CONTESTS

On March 31 ten instrumental and vocal soloists and the girls' ensemble participated in the annual Northwestern Ohio solo and ensemble contest at Bowling Green State University.

Those Montgomery High School students who received certificates for outstanding work are Joanne King, soprano; Flo Carpenter, mezzo soprano; Madge Hedge, clarinetist; Bob Hartenfeld, pianist; Kenny Tyson, trumpeter; and the girls' ensemble.

On April 6 the M. H. S. Band went to Bowling Green where it participated in the Northwestern Ohio band contest. The band received a rating of excellent.

ENGLISH STUDENTS HONORED

Early in the year it was announced that two Montgomery seventh graders, Sidney Baker and Ramona Sperry, had written essays which were selected for publication in "Young America Speaks," an anthology of high school prose. Nearly half a million essays were submitted for consideration.

Nancy Rogers' essay, "How the Christmas Seal Fights Tuberculosis," won first prize in a Wood County contest. Nancy was a freshman this year.

VALEDICTORIAN AND SALUTATORIAN

Emma Lou Sherman is the valedictorian of this year's graduating class, and Flo Carpenter is salutatorian.

CLASS PLAYS

The Junior Class Play, "Gertie's Uncle," was presented on March 16. A responsive audience enjoyed this play, the theme of which was mistaken identity.

On April 27 the Seniors gave their play, "Betty Jane From Punkin Lane." The rare antics of the rustic characters resulted in many hilarious situations.

The high school operetta, "The Gypsy Rover," was presented on April 6. The operetta was presented in the grandiose manner which has become a tradition at M. H. S.
